At the Open Mind club next Monday at 7:30 p. m., in the Barre room of the Congregational church, Dr. Barnett will read an article by J. Ramsay MacDonald, M. P., entitled, "Religion and the Labor Movement." This will be followed by discussion, and all who are interested are cordially invited.

W. F. Shepard, administrator of the estate of the late Alice C. Shepard of Berlin, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, on the premises, on Saturday, April 18, at 1:30 p. m., a valuable 7-room cottage and lot, located on the carline between Barre and Montpelier. Watch for further announcement. D. A. Perry, auctioneer.

Miss Irene Nute was very pleasantly surprised last evening at the home of Mrs. George Clogston on the Montpelier road, when about 25 of her friends called on her. During the evening, games were played and refreshments served. Miss Celine Mortimer presented Miss Nute a pendant, for which she thanked the donors in a very pleasing manner. The party ended at a late hour, all present having had a very enjoyable time.

What's that? Got to hurry home because you are running your fire extremely low now the weather is milder? Well, "I should worry." Get some charcoal and you'll find it's a matter of minutes instead of hours—and mightily few minutes, too. Why, we wouldn't think of being without it. Stop at Aiken's jewelry store on your way down and order a little, or come over to our house early in the morning and phone 53-M. It only costs a quarter for a couple sacks.—Advt.

A. L. Pierce, manager of the local store of the Direct Importing company, has received notification of his appointment to the position of manager of both the Barre and Montpelier stores. A vacancy was caused in the offices of the Montpelier store by the death of S. C. Kellogg, who died suddenly at Montpelier on Wednesday. Since that time representatives from Boston have been in charge there. Mr. Pierce will assume charge of the joint branches within the coming fortnight and he is making negotiations for the services of someone to act in charge of the Montpelier office. Mr. Pierce will remain with the local branch of the Direct Importing Co. The newly appointed general manager has been in the employ of the Direct Importing Co. ever since its coming to Barre several years ago.

That Lyman H. Howe's pictures still meet with the approval of a large number of followers was manifested last evening on their semi-annual presentation, for a large house saw them. Perhaps the most interesting picture ever shown on the screen was that of the building of the great Panama canal by Uncle Sam. The pictures showed some of the greatest engineering feats ever accomplished by man. Each movement was closely followed by the picture gave all a good idea of the gigantic work. Other pictures that were also interesting were those of a railway travel over the great Cascade ranges, the wonders of Yellowstone park, the noted ruins of Pompeii, and in the heart of the St. Gothard mountains. The usual comics also had their place in the program, which made a very interesting and instructive evening's entertainment.

What the press and public say of the Boston Scottish singers, who are to give a concert in the opera house on Friday, April 10, under the patronage of Clan Gordon, No. 12, "Margaret K. Alexander, the soprano, has a voice of exquisite sweetness, rich and free. Grace of manner, winning personality and intelligent singing make her a most attractive artist. Jeanne Hunter Tanner is unequalled among Scottish contraltos. Her tones are of rare beauty, deep and mellow. For a number of years she has been contralto soloist of the famed Rogers Memorial church at Fairhaven, Mass., and has gained distinction by excellent work. A. Cameron Steele is a basso-profundo in fact. He can sing an A below C (or a few bits further down if needed). He is also the popular bass soloist of the famous Boston Meistersingers and was for years a lyceum favorite. John E. Daniels is recognized as one of the foremost oratorio, concert and church singers of New England. He is now tenor soloist of the Second Universalist church, Boston. His voice embraces the characteristics of the lyric and the robust, and is used with fine musical intelligence. When Jock Edmiston and Sandy Cameron, the "two lowland croonies," come together and start blathering, it is to laugh. They are the most irresistible mirth-makers on the concert platform. There is no hackneyed imitation, but genuine humor, that is refreshing. They travel with the Boston Scottish singers. Remember the place and date.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Peg O' My Heart."

The attraction at the opera house to-night will be "Peg O' My Heart," Laurette Taylor's marvellously successful triumph that is now in its second year at the beautiful Cort theatre in New York City. This successful comedy, by J. Hartley Manners, is said to be one of the prettiest and cleanest plays seen on the stage in years. The story concerns a young Irish-American girl who has been brought up in poverty and who is suddenly transplanted to the home of unknown and aristocratic relatives in England. Her unfamiliarity with the ways of high society gets her into all sorts of trouble and leads to numerous comic situations. There is an abundance of clever Irish wit and a beautiful love story. In sending this company here, Mr. Morosco has taken great pains in selecting the cast that would in every way rival the one now playing in New York City. It includes Marion Dentler, Florence Roberts, Crosby Little, Violet Moore, Cecil Owen, Harold Henden, L. G. Carroll, Albert Gran and John E. Trevor.—Advt.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Among book plays, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which returns to the opera house Wednesday, April 1, 11 matinee and night, seems to have the most superabundant vitality. From the first dramatization of Mrs. Rice's two popular stories, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Lovey Mary," met with a degree of public favor more enthusiastic if anything than that awarded those "best selling novels" of low life in meat streets. In Mrs. Wiggs herself, Miss Harry, Lovey Mary and Mr. Stubbs, the play presents four salient types, each one of which remains firmly fixed in the most pleasant recollections of the playgoer. Strong as the roles, the play has been even more richly cast. There are 20 character parts, and Cuby, the "fit horse," is prominent, though a little broken in the wind.—Advt.
